● Henry George

The Henry George School of Social Science is an education and training center for activists in the field of economic justice. We promote a "third way" beyond both monopoly capitalism and state socialism by affirming individual freedom and social responsibility. We delve deeply into ethical taxation policies which can solve the problem of land and resource monopoly, thus assuring economic equal rights to the earth for all. Our goal is to establish enlightened economic structures which will promote the full flowering of each precious person.
