Dear Mr. Larn,

I was asking for you at the school, and was sorry to learn that you are not entirely well yet. I hope you will soon get your strength back again.

I met Mr. Gringman at the school with his class and we played the game. They seemed to like it, and made another date, when we played again for two hours.

Mr. Gringman is trying to get a group of the teachers to play.

Miss Bateman remarked that it should make good propaganda.

Thanks for everything, and I hope to see you soon.

Sincerely,

Henry J. Foley.
