Sept., 1955

THE WINNER

The appropriate, clever and original "BY GEORGE" caught the fancy of the majority of voters in the name contest.

For submitting the winning name, Everett Seeley won an $8.50 copy of "Henry George" by Charles Barker. Congratulations Everett.

To all who submitted names, the editor extends his sincere thanks.

AN EFFECTIVE APPROACH TOWARD OBTAININGFUTURE STUDENTS

Frequently in our daily contacts with our friends, neighbors and business associates an opportunity presents itself to interest a prospect in the matter of joining a class in fundamental economics. How? By directing the topic of conversation into the realm of TAXES.

If the prospect happens to be a homeowner or business man, this topic is guaranteed to bring forth more cuss words per minute than any subject I can at the moment think of.

Amusing is it not to a Georgist to hear the suggested remedies, such as "cut down on the welfare chislers", "too many city managers", etc. etc.

This type of conversation could be prolonged for hours and, as usual, it generates more heat than light. Your move is to ask the prospect if he would like to do something about the situation.

Invite him to attend a class and be sure to hand him a booklet or class announcement folder and if possible obtain his name and address and notify him when the next class convenes.

The Georgists have the light of logic that could illuminate some of this conversational hoax.

A CARD OF THANKS

The Henry George School wishes to extend its most hearty appreciation to those loyal graduates and friends who gave so generously of their time in addressing and assisting with the Fall announcement folders.

The Chairmen and their aids did such an excellent and thorough job there was actually a slight surplus of volunteer helpers. All postal matter was in the mail in good time, thanks to their efforts. Again, MANY THANKS!

MEET YOUR TEACHERS

A newcomer to the faculty of the Henry George School is Dr. Paul A. Jarand, M.D. Imperial Beach surgeon.

Dr. Jarand is a native of Illinois and a graduate of the University of Illinois. Medical School. He has served in the U.S. Navy for seven years, seeing duty in the Kwajalein Islands, Marshall Islands and Korea, as well as Pensacola, Florida, El Toro and San Diego, California.

Dr. Jarand and his wife Carolyn attended John May's Progress & Poverty class and James Palmer's World Trade class. They are the parents of Karen 9, Paulotte 3 & Paul 2.

Dr. Jarand will teach the Imperial Beach class. Good luck, Paul!

LAST MEETING

"Quiz the Experts" proved to be the main attraction of our August meeting. Messrs. Palmer, Bing and Cramer filled the roles of the experts very capably and Capt. Gay served very diplomatically as moderator. The experts were called upon to answer questions ranging in scope from local tax problems to benefits being reaped in foreign lands where Henry George's doctrines have been applied.

Using the school's new Bell & Howell sound movie projector, Mr. Palmer showed films on "Free Enterprise" and "Free Trade". Both were enthusiastically accepted as entertaining and educational by the attending membership.

Resolution to change the Alumni name was read for the first time. At the October meeting the resolution will again be read and further action will be taken.

ANNUAL PICNIC

A large crowd attended the 10th Annual Pot-Luck Picnic honoring Henry George on August 28, at Balboa Park.

In a short address, Everett Seeley pointed out the similar views on land ownership of George and Tocumseh, the Shawnee Indian Chieftain. Touching briefly on his own teaching career, he urged others to find the great satisfaction that he did in expanding the work of George through teaching "Progress & Poverty".

At the picnic bingo and other games were played. Prizes were furnished by the Alumni Association and the "Candy Stick", with John May and Mrs. O. H. Hagen winning the attendance prizes.

Six students have completed ten stimulating discussion sessions on the Science of Political Economy. Instructor Bessie Truehart termed it a small but mighty class. Graduates are: Mr. & Mrs. H. Buck, Lionel Goodman, Gordon Gran, Martha Prall & Edith Sundt.
