

J. Mason Bladeford, M. D.
126 June Street, cor. Walnut
Fall River, Mass.

Office Hours:

8 to 9 a.m., 1.30 to 3.30 and 7 to 8 p.m.

December 11, 1915

Dear Mr. Mackendrick:

I intended to talk with you about that lecture which Mr. Carrison was asked to deliver in Wolfeboro, but forgot it. Mr. Carrison "side-stepped" very gracefully, but he overlooked the fact that he had a grandfather. Considering Mr. C's reply I was a little surprised to read in the last Review that he "will accept assignments to speak before any audience, etc." But enough of this. I wonder if any good Boston man is available for this job. Dr. Chace of this city is willing to pay traveling and hotel expenses if the right man can be induced to go. Dr. Chace suggested Mr. Carrison.

The Fall River contingent of our late "symposium" arrived in this city in good condition at about half-past one Friday morning. They are still able to eat and carry on a rudimentary sort of a conversation - nothing brilliant however is attempted.

Fraternally

F. M. Bladeford

10517