

Gloucester, Mass.,
December 23, 1916.

My dear Mr. MacKendrick:-

I do not think that White ought to try and speak in both Brockton and Gloucester the same afternoon and evening, at this time of year when the trains are so uncertain and he could not possibly get to the church until 8.30 P. M. if everything is on time and trains are so uncertain it will be likely to be embarrassing. However, if you insist upon it, we shall have to do as you wish. I realize that his time is valuable and that he is an important speaker. These are the facts, however.

Sincerely,

L. M. Powers
