

BROCKTON PUBLIC FORUM

The roots of Democracy draw their nourishment from the soil of public opinion.

BROCKTON, MASS.,.....December 20.....1916

Alexander MacKendrick Sec'y.,
120 Boylston Street,
Boston Mass.

My dear Mr. MacKendrick:

The Forum is held at 4 P.M. Sunday. The train for Brockton leaves the South Station at 2.14 and arrives at 3.14. Returning that night, the train for Boston goes at 6.18 arriving at 6.50 P.M.

The hall where the meetings are now held is the Pythian Hall on West Elm Street, off Main, about 5 minutes from the station.

I sincerely hope we can have Mr. White on that date.

Yours sincerely,

M./M.
