Feb. 12, 1916.

Mr. Alex Mackendrick

Boston, Mass.

My Dear Mr. Mackendrick:

Mr. C. B. Hemingway of this city is an old-time single taxer who has been very active in promoting legislation looking in the direction of the single tax. The report to which he refers in his note to you has not yet been released by the joint committee which prepared it and this accounts for the fact that he has not yet been able to secure copies of his part in the hearings. I am assured by the public printer that these will be available just as soon as the printing of the report has been authorized.

Assuring you that I shall welcome any support that may be given to the measures which I have had the honor to introduce looking toward some recognition of our principles, I remain

Very truly yours,

Warren Worth Bailey
