Mr. Louis Jacobs
64 Redington Road
Hampstead Heath
London, N.W., England

My dear Mr. Jacobs:

Our good friend Mrs. Mary Fels has just sent me your address to enable me to write and ask for some dozen copies of the pamphlet, "Social Justice and the Jew."

Mrs. Fels has just sent me her last copy to circulate, and says: "...tell Mr. Jacobs I shall expect another, or others from him."

I should like also to obtain some quantities of "A Worker's Question," etc., by W. B. Lester, and the pamphlet, "Land or Revolution," by the Hon. Outhwaite.

We cannot do more at present than promise to honor very promptly a moderate bill for the expense we are asking you to undertake.

There is great joy amongst real democrats in this country over the British labor program for reconstruction--I call it the Greater Magna Charta!

Sincerely yours,
Winifred B. Esselte
