Dear Sir:

My attention was called only recently to the article on "Global Monopoly" in your issue of Oct. 24, or I would have written sooner.

How could you, at this late date, be perpetuating the myth that Charles Darrow invented Monopoly? See enclosed article. The case received wide publicity. The real inventor was "one of our girls", Elizabeth Magie Phillips, who intended, with this game, to teach Single Tax principles.

Sincerely,

Robert Clancy
